NON-NEGOTIABLE STYLE RULES

- 16:9 composition; fill the frame; favor large, readable subjects.
- Rough, heavy black outlines; simple flat fills; minimal shading.
- White circular heads, dot/oval eyes, flexible brows, simple stick limbs.
- Facial expressions and gestures are intentionally exaggerated.
- Use panels, arrows, giant symbols, and handwritten labels only when the script calls for them.
- Avoid beige presentation backdrops, polished corporate vectors, 3D rendering, and photorealism.

CORE HUMAN CHARACTER SYSTEM

Match head-to-body ratio, stick limbs, gestures, faces, and deliberately uneven black outlines.

REFERENCE 007 • 00:21.00 • worried seated pose

REFERENCE 016 • 00:55.67 • questioning full-body pose

REFERENCE 028 • 02:01.73 • angry scientist gesture

REFERENCE 151 • 12:19.43 • group reaction faces

ANIMALS AND CHARACTER CONTINUITY

Keep animals simple, readable, expressive, and consistent with the same hand-drawn outline language.

REFERENCE 014 • 00:48.60 • wolf-human-dog lineup

REFERENCE 051 • 03:22.07 • threatening wolf

REFERENCE 106 • 07:10.80 • friendly fox interaction

REFERENCE 174 • 14:30.93 • dog-breed variety

COLOR AND ENVIRONMENT ALLOCATION

Use saturated full-frame environments: cyan day, royal-blue night, green ground, brown earth, black linework.

REFERENCE 001 • 00:00.00 • day landscape

REFERENCE 006 • 00:17.33 • night fire lighting

REFERENCE 037 • 02:33.13 • crowded camp scene

REFERENCE 233 • 20:14.67 • sunset emotional close

PANEL AND SEQUENCE GRAMMAR

Use clean dividers for time, comparison, escalation, and dialogue; vary 2-panel, 3-panel, and 2x2 structures.

REFERENCE 003 • 00:04.47 • 2x2 daily sequence

REFERENCE 043 • 02:58.63 • three-step storyboard

REFERENCE 086 • 05:31.20 • 2x2 causal explanation

REFERENCE 200 • 17:19.73 • three-panel dialogue

DIAGRAMS, TIMELINES, AND MAPS

Explain one concept visually with oversized icons, arrows, short handwritten labels, and obvious focal hierarchy.

REFERENCE 025 • 01:44.67 • debate around evidence

REFERENCE 026 • 01:50.53 • uncertain timeline

REFERENCE 118 • 09:05.33 • world map

REFERENCE 179 • 14:54.67 • DNA family tree

VISUAL METAPHORS AND COMEDY

Turn abstract copy into literal props, scale contrast, exaggerated symbols, and an instantly readable visual joke.

REFERENCE 031 • 02:10.00 • podium metaphor

REFERENCE 054 • 03:38.43 • giant question mark

REFERENCE 108 • 07:24.00 • domino-effect metaphor

REFERENCE 191 • 16:34.53 • bed-space visual joke

EMOTION AND BONDING

Push eyes, brows, mouths, pose, hearts, and motion marks beyond realism so the emotion reads immediately.

REFERENCE 141 • 11:22.73 • mutual gaze

REFERENCE 148 • 12:03.03 • extreme puppy eyes

REFERENCE 162 • 13:23.40 • affectionate hug

REFERENCE 229 • 19:54.40 • explosive excitement

DENSE EDUCATIONAL BOARDS

For information-heavy concepts, organize many small scenes around one bold headline or directional path.

REFERENCE 004 • 00:09.60 • circular process board

REFERENCE 090 • 05:44.23 • scientist explainer

REFERENCE 109 • 07:40.63 • trait poster
